Here's what people are saying...

• Monoi made my long curly hair very manageable and I just love the scent! Monica

• Monoi Ylang has helped my thinning hair in ways I didn't think possible, not only is it regrowing but it is the best that it has looked in years... Cherise

• Thanks to your wonderful Monoi products my dry skin condition is finally under control. I also used it during my pregnancy and I have not one stretch mark! Thank You! Laura

• I use Monoi de Tahiti to style my hair every day and I will use nothing else because there is no substitute. Marion

• I used you Monoi oil during my weight loss program and I think it has really helped in preventing stretch marks and in keeping my skin firm while going through this process. John

• After a bad dye job that damaged and dried out my hair I thought nothing would work but Monoi has helped my hair recover and is now softer and healthier than ever before. Jean

MONOI de TAHITI has been studied scientifically in comparison to shea butter, jojoba oil, Vaseline, non-Tahitian coconut with the following conclusions: the latter's moisturizing effects occur through partial occlusion of the skin. In other words water cannot get out of the skin because pores are blocked. MONOI does not occlude skin. Its moisturizing effect is gradual and long lasting by strengthening the epidermis ability to retain water. Fifteen minutes after MONOI application, hydration is increased by 10%. After two hours hydration is increased by 15%, remaining at that level six hours after application. After four weeks use, hydration is showing another 6% increase.

The computer analysis showed improvement on skin firmness and elasticity in depth in the dermis and on the coetaneous micro-relief (surface).

A number of studies have been conducted to assess how MONOI de TAHITI repairs and RESTRUCTURES hair. Hair fibers are found to be regenerated and keratin scales are found to be more compact and to present a homogenous surface. As we know curly hair presents rough keratin scales that stick of the hair shaft, leaving hair dry, breakable and rugged. After continual use of MONOI, microscope observation reveals well-compacted keratin scales and a homogenous surface. It creates a thin homogenous film that smooths the hair shaft.

These studies have been conducted under supervision of the French government, as in France MONOI de TAHITI is to beauty what French wine is to health.

NOTE: Pure MONOI de TAHITI solidifies below 70°F. It is a natural process which does not affect its properties. Simply place bottle under hot tap water to restore its fluidity and enjoy its beneficial deep-penetrating soothing effects.

MONOI de TAHITI

The 2000 year old legendary beauty secret of Tahitian women.

Deep in the South Pacific, on the fabled islands of Tahiti, for centuries the legendary beautiful women of Polynesia have used a natural combination of locally-grown flowers and coconut extract to protect, nourish, soften and hydrate their skin and to achieve the luxurious shine to their hair, despite constant exposure to sun, wind and salt water.

This unique formula is known in Tahiti as MONOI de TAHITI (pronounced mah-noy), which means scented oil. The secret of Monoi de Tahiti lies in the delicate 100% natural vegetal blend that is extracted from the rich Tahitian Tumu Ha'ari (Cocos Nucifera) palm tree and the local "Tiare" (Gardenia Tahitensis) flowers. Together they act as a natural barrier against dehydration that causes wrinkles and split ends and to protect the skin and the hair against sun, heat and wind damage.

Pure MONOI de TAHITI is a rich, naturally concentrated emollient that penetrates instantly into the skin and hair. One needs only a few drops to achieve instant results and smooth, healthy, youthful looking hair and skin. For optimum benefits use MONOI de Tahiti immediately after a shower or bath when skin and hair is still moist.

MONOI de TAHITI offers natural skin and hair protection for all seasons. In cold weather its properties give a beautiful, healthy appearance to even the driest skin and hair. In summer, MONOI de TAHITI is the ideal after-sun treatment to soothe and re-hydrate the skin and the hair to prevent wrinkling and hair shaft-breakage due to prolonged sun and water exposure. Monoi de Tahiti is a natural "hair repair" treatment, especially if your hair is lifeless or damaged. Use it regularly as a daily conditioner for curly, coarse hair or as a hot oil treatment to restore natural shine, softness and beautiful appearance to all hair types.

Traditionally MONOI de TAHITI is used from birth on the Vahines (Tahitian girls) allowing their hair to grow long and supple. On the other hand, it is not used on boys who keep short afro hair.

Monoi, a creamy oil for hair and skin made of a concoction of Tahitian nuts and gardenias is the beauty secret of Tahitian & French women alike. Its properties tremendously increase the hydration level of the hair and skin. Applied everyday as a skin treatment it prevents stretch marks, aging, saggy, dry, itchy skin. Used as a daily hair conditioner for dry, coarse, curly hair, it penetrates instantly, smoothing & strengthening the hair shaft, allowing fragile hair to grow long without breaking. Ideal before blow-drying for soft, smooth, manageable hair without any oily residue. For dry straight fine hair use as a hot oil treatment before shampoo and apply a small amount on split ends as a leave-in conditioner.

Monoi de Tahiti Rose

The hydrating and soothing properties of Monoi are enhanced by the properties of essential oils of rose, geranium and mandarin. Rose: The most hydrating and strengthening of all plants, particular for the heart, uterus and immune system. Geranium: A hormone-like plant that balances and stimulates hormonal flow to enhance skin and hair suppleness. Mandarin: Repairs and produces collagen and elastin producing a firming effect.

Monoi de Tahiti lavender

The soothing properties of lavender allied to the suppleness enhancing properties of Monoi will instantly calm skin irritations on small children without the harmful side effects of medical drugs. "Monoi de Tahiti Kids" will help manage and encourage growth of curly, dry or coarse hair.

Monoi & Ylang Scalp Treatment

A blend of Monoi and of "hormone-like" essential oils specially formulated to treat the scalp. It helps to soothe and prevent dry, itchy, flaking scalp while stimulating hair growth, enhancing shine and preventing hair loss and graying. Directions: Massage a few drops into scalp and wait at least one hour before shampooing. For best results we recommend leaving in over night before shampooing hair.
